Re: Baltimore Belting Company – Customer Transition

After an amazing 120 years serving customers in the greater Baltimore area and beyond, Baltimore Belting Company will be winding-down and closing its business, as owners John and Richard Slingluff will be retiring. As such, Baltimore Belting Company will be transitioning its customer base to Quality Conveyor Solutions (“QCS”) as of February 10th, 2023. We know that Quality Conveyor Solutions and its team members will serve our customers with care and excellence, and that QCS is uniquely qualified to meet your needs moving forward. We know that you have a choice of product and service providers, and we hope that you will welcome QCS with the same loyalty and trust that you have shown Baltimore Belting Company.

About Quality Conveyor Solutions: QCS is a full-service industrial conveyor belt and mobile maintenance company with 8 full-service branches across MD, PA, VA, NC, TN, and KY, including a local branch in Baltimore. The QCS management team has over 130+ years of combined experience in both lightweight and heavyweight conveyor belt, fabrication, and installation, and QCS represents the premier manufacturers in the industry. We invite you to learn more about QCS at www.qualityconveyorsolutions.com.

We are also very excited to share that Baltimore Belting Company’s long-term employee, Matthew Ritz, will be joining QCS, and are thrilled for the growth opportunities Matt’s new position will provide ... and for the continuity of trust and excellence as a member of the QCS team that Matt will bring to our former customers.

After February 10th, 2023, Richard Slingluff, on behalf of Baltimore Belting Company, will continue to fulfill any remaining open orders that have not been fulfilled on behalf of Baltimore Belting Company. Rich will be available at the Company’s phone number and address for a period of approximately sixty (60) days, in order to fully wind-down the business, including closing-out accounts receivable, addressing open service issues relating to past orders, and assisting in the introduction and transition of our valued customers to Quality Conveyor Solutions. All payments for invoices due Baltimore Belting Company against orders placed or completed before [closing date], 2023, should be remitted to Baltimore Belting Company at our 25th Street address; we anticipate getting the final bills out within a few days of [closing date] Prompt payment of these invoices is greatly appreciated.

From February 10th, 2023 and onwards, Bill, Matt, and the team at QCS will be accepting new orders.
